

Bloody Cat Vomit Cleanup With DooDoo Voodoo

Sadly, we lost a female kitty to cancer a few months ago. She had metastasized cancer throughout her body and it caused her to vomit frequently.

The vomit had been primarily undigested food, which we'd been giving her through a needleless syringe by mouth, and sometimes foamy, clear emesis. The day before she was euthanized, however, she vomited a large amount of blood and a large blood clot. This was an especially challenging task for DooDoo Voodoo, but as you can see from the photos, DooDoo Voodoo did its job 100% and the carpet was left in pristine condition.

Photo #1 is the blood and clot Georgette produced.

Photo #2 is the collection of paper towels, a bottle of DooDoo Voodoo and a cloth towel I was also using.

Photo #3 shows how much good DooDoo Voodoo alone did on the stains. The stains are virtually gone...and the work took only a few minutes and less than a roll of paper towels.

Photo #4 shows the area after I extracted it using our commercial-grade portable carpet machine. This machine, which is called a "spotter" because it's for use on small spots, not entire rooms, is a capable machine, but it only provides suction. It does not agitate the carpet fibers like many consumer-grade upright machines do. Even without agitation, though, it did a fine job of extracting what was left in the carpet after DooDoo Voodoo did its (incredible) job at removing the blood stains.

Below is a picture of our girl, Georgette. She had one of the most amazing spirits of any animal we've ever had the pleasure of sharing our lives with. She exhibited such elegance throughout her illness and taught us a lot about standing tall in the face of adversity. We are blessed to have had her here with us as long as we did and look forward to seeing her again one day. You can read about Georgette's life and battle with cancer, plus a bit about what we believe may have caused her illness, at www.doodoovoodoo.com/georgette.htm. It's a touching page, so do take a few minutes to visit.

If DooDoo Voodoo was this effective on the stains pictured here, just imagine what it can do for you!

Four on the Floor™
PET PRODUCTS

© Copyright 2007. All rights reserved.